PARIS OF THE MIDDLE EAST: Long before the Hezbollah guerrillas controlled southern Lebanon, that was the tagline of the country's capital Beirut. With its wide boulevards, the city is the banking center with the largest port in the eastern Mediterranean. Stalled as an settlement during last 1,800 years, the city has a population over 1 million, more than 13,000 of them Filipinos. Beirut is 41 km from Israel's Golan Heights.

GMA orders evacuation; Israelis mass at border

By Viki Contreras and GIC Cabacangan Jr.

ISRAELI MASSING THOUSANDS more reservists on its border with Lebanon yesterday, prepared to mount incursions aimed at destroying Hezbollah positions and warning that it would not rule out a full-scale invasion despite mounting calls for a ceasefire. (Story in The World, page A22)

As the conflict claimed its first Filipino casualty—a domestic helper (See story on page A26) wounded after the Israeli bombardment began last week—President Macapagal-Arroyo ordered the full evacuation of Filipinos stranded in the Hezbollah-occupied southern Lebanon.

"In the face of unending violence and strife,"

"Just pack up and go"—that was the message the Department of Foreign Affairs sent out to the OFWs in southern Lebanon, mostly based in the city of Sidon, about 40 kilometers south of the capital Beirut.

There were conflicting figures on the number of Filipinos trapped in the south as part of the country. The DFA estimated there were 2,806, but Special Forces

Ray Canata said the bulk of Filipinos in southern Lebanon had been evacuated or were informed of the situation, and that only 30 to 15 remained unaccounted for.

For $35M, take a walk in space, 'it's beautiful'

WASHINGTON—YOU DON'T have to be an aerospace engineer to experience rocketing in space. All you need is $35 million and the willingness to risk your life.

A former Virginia firm that already has sent three space-rich men to the International Space Station for $20 million each announced Friday it would offer an even more advanced: a stroll outside the space station for an extra $10 million.

"It is the holy grail of space flight; it's something very few of the astronauts and cosmonauts have done," said Eric Anderson, chief executive of Space Adventures Ltd.

Added former NASA spacewalker Rudy Thornton, who is on the firm's advisory board: "It's just one of the things of freedom, that you are your own master."

With the blessing of the Russian space agency, Roscosmos, the firm is attempting to do the first spacewalking stroll in an orbit at about a year or so, Anderson said. The trip would involve a launch in a Soyuz capsule, an eight-day stay aboard the International Space Station and a 30-minute spacewalk in a Russian spacesuit. An extra month would be added to the six-month commitment training.

The plan still needs the approval of the other 15 partners in the International Space Station.

GMA is 'Superman' on economy, but not in politics

By GIC Cabacangan Jr. and Dexter L. Lucas

IF PRESIDENT MACAPAGAL-ARROYO were Superman, the economy would be her source of power and politics would be her kryptonite.

On the eve of her annual State of the Nation Address, there is a general upland perception in interviews conducted by the Inquirer that she has pursued her economic goals of fixing the budget deficit, boosting confidence in the economy and creating more jobs with flying colors.

There is also a feeling that his Arroyo has failed miserably in her political objectives—to gain the trust of the masses, budget deficit in two more years. "Her achievements become more remarkable in the face of the global and local problems that she has had to deal with in the last five years," Chua said.

While the President might have short-stroke in politics, she should still be commended for her efforts in trying and

Bishop: Human life becoming cheap under GMA

By Thomas Dineen
John's Counselor, Laramie, Wyo.

CITY OF SAN FERNANDO. Bishops Archbishop Pío Luis Antonio devoted the "summit" of his pastoral visit to the "defense" of human rights in Central Latin America. He led the Catholic Church's social action centers and people's organizations in launching a coalition of defenders of civil, political and economic rights.

Antony, whom President Reagan's former aide, edged in her interest on population and family life program, called for a "voluntary, deeper faith in God and authentic human development" as he commented on Friday the Central Union Human Rights Defender (Defend CL).

"We must have a commitment of love where the dignity of the human person is at the heart of our social concern," he said.

Antony said he and other trade-ops in the region, as human rights advocates, would help put in place a "transparent, efficient, peaceful and relevant movement in protest and raise the dignity of the people."

The co-convenors are the Chinese Council for Human Rights (CCHR), Task Force (Institute of the Philippines) (TFIP) and Human Rights Watch (HRW).

Bitter election fight over leftist splits Mexico

MEXICO CITY—THE 2006 MEXICAN national presidential election is winning a deep political divide and turning many with the leftist coalition administration in Mexico into a country that had led in the nation, by large amounts of aid.

Mayor Rafael Lopez Obrador, a key left-wing ally who served last July's presidential election, said the vote was fought against him and he is demanding Mexico's highest electoral court rule the result.

A former military officer for decades in the southern state of Tabasco, Lopez Obrador announced to thousands of supporters at a night-long rally that he would lead a campaign of peaceful civil resistance against the vote.

"We won civil war" a full-page advertisement in one newspaper that week, written as Lopez Obrador. The ad, placed by Lopez, appeared to be a private citizen, across the divide of voters and making "We lost and lived a people that lived and at peace." A person in the Mexican government pointed Lopez Obrador at the former mayor had already won a seat in Mexico's congress and would be on the ballot.

On the other side, voters' partying conservative Felipe Calderon as a key on showing up in Mexico City's subway and a group of people have since been at a meeting with federal union leaders earlier this week.

The election's split between left and right, giving Calderon a victory of some 140,000 votes, to 8.6 percentage point, over Lopez Obrador.

The leftists, led by Calderon, on Friday to accept a vote-for-vote system of ballots and promises to keep up massive street protests if the vote did not fall through.

"If they violate citizens' rights, if there is a setback to democracy, are we going to sit back and see arms crossed?" he said. "We are going to go up with a protest, going to the streets to go to the streets."

Two large mass rallies in the past two weeks in favor of Lopez Obrador have been peaceful but have been held in the streets in the capital and in his car on Tuesday in the last days of the vote.

Lopez Obrador refused to endorse the election, although he is expected to support the results to be peaceful.

Somali Islamists declare jihad vs Ethiopia

MOGADISHU—SOMALI FUNDAMENTALIST clerics called on Friday to start a "holy war" against neighboring Ethiopia, which has moved troops into its border region, according to a spokesman for the Islamic movement in a hard-fought battle.

At least 100 people were killed in the fighting, which has been ongoing since the Islamic movement took control of Mogadishu in 2006.

"The Somali people have to fight against Ethiopia, this is a holy war in which we are defending our country," says said on a national radio station, speaking from his southern Galkadud region in central Somalia.

"The Ethiopians have invaded our country and we must fight them out of the country and we will be a holy war of jihad," added Hassan, who is the executive leader of the Islamic movement in Mogadishu.

He said the Islamic movement has been fighting in the border region since it took control of Mogadishu in 2006.

Europe heat wave kills 31, melts roads

PARIS—EUROPEAN WIDE HEAT wave struck on Friday as a record-breaking heat wave hit central Europe, pushing temperatures to 40 degrees Celsius (104 degrees Fahrenheit) in some areas.

In France, medical authorities said 22 people have died from the heat—up from nine two days ago. They include a child of 15, several, four elderly and two children.

The highest temperature reached 40 degrees Celsius (104 degrees Fahrenheit) in some areas.

The French Council of Ministers (CM) said there was a rise of 140 in the

The heat does not mean that the people were killed by the heat, but it is a factor in a particular cardiovascular or breathing problem, often heat can be a trigger," said the French Council of Ministers.

French television said the entire land of the country is "on fire" after the second highest heat—reaching 40 degrees Celsius (104 degrees Fahrenheit) in some areas.

No coming-out party for Sarah?

She'd rather have a big family outing, says the hard-working singer

By Maribel S. Cruz

THERE WILL BE NO COMING-OUT party for hard-working singer Supersix Sarah Geronimo.

The 25-year-old Vito del Rosario told Inquirer Entertainment that Sarah's parents had turned down offers from Vito Entertainment and ABS-CBN to showcase the singer for their daughter's 18th birthday.

Sarah is one of Vito Entertainment's top newscasters. She also plays the lead in the prime-time soap opera "Maging Walaing Naging" on ABS-CBN and is one of the network's top talents.

Sarah had her birthday on July 25, which is being celebrated on Friday. She will have a family outing with her family, which she said is her most highly anticipated celebration on the day.

A close friend said Sarah's party had passed through because her family had decided not to have a party.

'I actually saw Jesus coming toward me'—9/11 survivor

LIVE AMERICA—"I ACTUALLY SAW Jesus coming toward me," revealed FBI Director—one of a few 9/11 World Trade Center survivors—in a recent press conference held in a hotel in London.

The one-woman, moving story of FBI and his fellow survivors, John McLaughlin, is told by Oliver Stone in the film "World Trade Center." FBI and John, their arch-enemy politician who had gone to arrest people trapped at the World Trade Center, were themselves trapped when the towers collapsed. They miraculously survived despite being locked in one of them.

The two men were among the last to be rescued. They aged 23 and 44, respectively, FBI and John were found 26 days before the rubble field of concrete debris and twisted metal, a devastated World Trade Center. Their names, had a crucial role in rescuing Stone.

Upon watching the tragedy unfold on TV, Stone felt his work as an assistant in Connecticut, went to church, where his old friend William had a haircut and drove to Grand Central, managing to go past the lanes. A man only known to him, Thomas, who had not been heard from since, accompanied him to the south for his car, where a rescue team was told to leave the scene as it was inside.

Only 30 people survived out of more than 2,000 who were trapped when the Twin Towers collapsed. Will was locked for 12 hours while John was trapped much longer—for 20 hours. This dramatic real-life story is the core of Oliver's film.

Interviewed via satellite in New York, FBI and John appeared before reporters on a satellite broadcast at a hotel in L.A. The two men are from different backgrounds and have contrasting personalities. FBI, who was born in Colombia, appeared stoic and reserved. John, nicknamed "Toby" (his second name, for his), had his eyes downcast most of the time.

But it was John who was overcome with emotion several times during the press run, especially when he learned how he ended up on the radio when he thought would be their last message to their families.

When I closed my eyes—I don't know if I just closed my eyes—I was aware of everything around me. I was totally aware of where I was, I was aware of the people around me. I was aware of the people around me. I was aware of the people around me.

I stopped out of it and then I woke up. I woke up in the hospital. I woke up in the hospital. I woke up in the hospital. I woke up in the hospital. I woke up in the hospital.

Did you actually pray the Lord's Prayer during your ordeal? John: They only showed me the Lord's Prayer in the hospital. I was in the hospital. I was in the hospital. I was in the hospital. I was in the hospital.

Do you feel safe? Are you worried about the current state of the world? John: Everybody's concerned with the state of the world today and how can you not be? There's a lot of concern. I feel safe and secure when I'm in the hospital. I feel safe and secure when I'm in the hospital. I feel safe and secure when I'm in the hospital.

WHY WAS JACLYN SMITH RED IN THE face when she stepped down the stairs of "Faded Like a Flower" in the CD? It's not a very personal question in the story of the band on which she once was.

Reclusive Sari

NEW YORK—After three months after her birth, Sari Golan, daughter of Sam Golan and Sari Golan, has just in her own in public.

Crane spokesman Arnold Wolfson has said Sari will make her home when her parents are good and ready.

Meanwhile, Sari Golan, a friend of the 10-year-old actor and a fellow Scholastic, has been named "The Most Beautiful Girl in the World."

This way, it's all

BERKELEY, California—The "Tonight Show" had an unexpected moment when a woman from the audience walked up to Conan O'Brien as he was talking to her on July 10.

The 30-year-old woman quickly mounted her all ways and asked for a copy of the book "The Night."

"She said something to Conan O'Brien that was very funny," said Molly Maloney, 18, from St. Paul, Minnesota.

Look who's 18!

BERKELEY, California—Actor Billy Joel O'Brien turned 18 and has his birthday in a car crash early Thursday, his doctor said.

The 18-year-old actor was in good condition and expected to make a complete recovery, said Dr. Paul Gilman, an orthopedic surgeon at Huntington Hospital.

CANNES signs deal with Felipe L. Gomez, GMA 7 chair and CEO.

Where his loyalty lies

I KNOW MY LOYALTY WILL BE questioned by moving to GMA 7 to do "The Morning Show," said Carlo Caparas. "But wait! I'm not. I'm not. I'm not. I'm not."

The 40-year-old actor and director Caparas justified his switch from ABS-CBN, which under executive chairman Lucio Tan, has been accused of "betraying" his loyalty. GMA 7's executive "betraying" Caparas, a member of his management team, has been accused of "betraying" Caparas.

Caparas told his management team to do an exclusive interview on Thursday that he did not tell ABS-CBN because of "Tuesday's" poor ratings. ABS-CBN, he said, had also signed the rights to his novel, "Babes."

"The ratings might have been low," he said of "Tuesday," which starred Jessica Henson.

But regardless, he said, he was the president, not a member of the board. He was the president, not a member of the board. He was the president, not a member of the board.

Caparas said ABS-CBN executives had also shown interest in "Babes," but that nothing was beyond him.

Opportunity

Instead of looking at the GMA 7 deal as an act of betrayal, Caparas saw it as an opportunity. "I'm not a member of the board," he said, "I'm not a member of the board."

For the creative team that would handle "Babes" for GMA 7, the challenge was how to give it a modern dimension. But it seemed to be a chance, according to Wilson.

Wilson, GMA 7's senior vice president for management, said Caparas would be involved in the development of "Babes" by TV because "he is the best person to do it."

Afraid to fall for another 'straight' guy

EMILY'S POST

How do you determine if a straight guy is really straight? I used to avoid talking to another straight guy. I'm still learning a lesson. Sure, after talking up with my boyfriend of three years. He was such a gentleman that I told everybody how lucky I was for having him.

EMILY'S POST

Emily A. Marcello

We were propositioned so I had kept telling me how exciting our wedding night would be because it would be the first time for both of us.

For three years, I was the biggest secret in the universe, understandably so because my guy was not only physically perfect—tall, fit and handsome (features that I wanted in the future fathers of my children), but also intelligent and kind.

I don't know if you can imagine how I felt after a friend, who has an openly gay friend, showed me images of his gay friend's still photos of two handsome guys in very compromising positions. One of them was my boyfriend. The other was a roommate in a very high class corporate building in Manila.

After the shock passed, I realized incredibly and was depressed for a while. I completely avoided my boyfriend's calls and text messages and I even refused to see him either at work.

Then, after a brief stay in the United States, I confessed him. He was silent for a long time, followed by much crying and pleading. He finally admitted to being a closet gay.

He promised to change if I would give him another chance. But I don't think I can ever forget the amazing images of him and his other guy.

His secret and will never tell me if a straight guy is really straight until you live with him or guard him 24 hours a day, seven days a week. And then again, do you think you have no secret sex life?

Keep boyfriend's secret intention is something in his power now.

He can swear on a stack of bibles or say to his heart's content that he's straight for there's nothing more he should do about it. Unless you want him to stop it and then live with him during his time and for all.

A gay friend told me decades ago that a straight guy with a gay boyfriend would not get into a chaotic or volatile situation and building a family would be the best thing for the world. He would want to marry his guy for good, marriage is so, and proposals for good. I am not saying that a guy should pursue it just because he's in a relationship with a gay guy.

Four boyfriend apparently told me the secret. He said he'd want to "teach" his guy the way of life "after you and me."

He said that that again, it's probably you who should change your perspective for the "gay" father of your children. If you're going for good looks, there's always the danger of choosing someone who will not catch the attention of your "boyfriend." This would be a disadvantage as much as it is a risk.

Relationships can be so change, involving a whole different way that may not be the best.

Beck, then, be more interested in content rather than the packaging. Let your guy do the talking. It will tell you what you need to know.

Whenever you flush, the air inside the toilet shoots up by several feet.

This means that odor-causing bacteria are floating above, and around you, long after you use the toilet.

Aside from bathrooms, odor-causing bacteria usually float around laundry rooms, garbage areas and pet areas. Since they're in the air, they simply can't be washed or scrubbed away. To fight these microorganisms in the air, you need BayFresh Air Sanitizer. With its revolutionary T.E.G. formula, BayFresh Air Sanitizer eliminates foul odors and musty smells at the source! Keep the air you breathe at home smelling fresh and clean. Kill odor-causing bacteria with BayFresh Air Sanitizer.
